

FROM OUR HEART TO YOURS.

Did you know your baby can identify you as their mother through your smell?

As an important part of the bonding process, scents need to be exchanged between you and your baby, but this can be difficult in the hospital.

That's why Lovies are so critical. These flat, soft flannel hearts are designed to transfer scents between you and your baby. For those times you cannot be physically together, Lovies are an excellent way to bond with your baby.

How to use your Lovies

- Place one Lovie with your baby
- Put one Lovie against your skin
- Swap Lovies the next time you see your baby
- Bond through scent - your baby smells you and vice versa
- If Lovies get dirty, wash at home with hypoallergenic, unscented detergent
- Repeat the process
